FOR PRESS, RADIO-TV, PHOTOGRAPHERS, THE EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION AND THE MANY THOUSAND NORTH CAROLINIANS WHO SUPPORT THE TAR HEELS

Intercollegiate football, as indeed all intercollegiate athletic competition, has both immediate and indirect benefits. Competitors and spectators share these, though quite often in very different ways.

A sound intercollegiate program is essentially one aspect of the total education program of the University. For some, it is a direct educational experience involving lessons that are never forgotten throughout all of life. For others, it is an indirect involvement calling upon an enjoyment of a game well played. For all of us, at its best, it is an experience in good sportsmanship, fair play, and a committment to win within prescribed rules and regulations. To a very considerable degree, these are experiences closely related to life.

PAUL F. SHARP
Chancellor
University of North Carolina

Introducing the new Chancellor

Historian, author and administrator Paul F. Sharp assumes the Chancellorship at Chapel Hill when the University begins the 171st year of its history in September.

The nine-month's search for a Chancellor to succeed William B. Aycock, who returns to teaching in the Law School after seven years of distinguished leadership in South Building, culminated in the recommendation of Dr. Sharp, President of Hiram College in Ohio, by President William C. Friday and the unanimous approval of the board of trustees.

A trustees' committee, headed by William Medford of Waynesville, reported on its deliberations which resulted in the final choice by President Friday.

Chancellor Sharp, 46-year-old native of Missouri, attended public schools in Minnesota, received the A.B. degree at Phillips University in Oklahoma, the Ph.D. from the University of Minnesota. He has taught at the University of Wisconsin, and at Universities of Sidney and Melbourne in Australia and at other institutions. Distinguished scholar recognitions have included Guggenheim, Ford and Fulbright awards.

In his American history specialty, the frontier of western United States and Canada predominates. His Whoop-Up Country: The Canadian-American West was designated the "best western non-fiction for 1955" by the Western Writers of America when he won that organization's Silver Spur Award. For the same volume the American Association for State and Local History gave Dr. Sharp its Award of Merit.

He is a veteran of World War II, serving as a Naval officer in the Pacific.

He is married to the former Rose Anderson of Enid, Oklahoma, and they have three children.

CHARLES P. (CHUCK) ERICKSON

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS AT UNC

C. P. (Chuck) Erickson can only hope that this year, his 12th as athletic director at the University of North Carolina, can be as successful as last year, perhaps the most distinguished and exciting nine months in the school's history.

Now in the trophy case is the Carmichael Cup, significant of supermacy regarding overall program in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Helping pave the way for such an honor were championships or co-championships in four sports—football, baseball, swimming and cross country.

"All of us can take pride in the records and spirit of our squads in a dozen varsity sports," said Erickson. "The hard work of the various coaching staffs must be recognized. Our department is made up of dedicated men."

Erickson's guidance has won Carolina respect across the nation as a school with sports standards on par with its academic excellence. The physical plant is one of the most modern, beautiful and serviceable in America.

"Two of our latest additions are a gymnasium which will seat 10,000 for basketball and a renovation of Kenan Fieldhouse," said Erickson. "The indoor stadium will be ready in July of 1965. Also under construction is a new baseball park."

Visitors are always impressed by the two Olympic pools on campus, the handsome, 43,000-seat Kenan Stadium in its picturesque setting and the various tennis courts and other outdoor facilities. Finley Golf Course, an 18-hole test of courage, serves students and faculty.

JIM HICKEY is more a perfectionist than a thrill seeker. His theory on football is to produce a team which can handle fundamentals skillfully and with a minimum of errors. Count on his teams to execute the basics of blocking and tackling with old-fashioned explosiveness. The razzle-dazzle will be at a minimum, but foes of the Tar Heels can't afford to sleep in one defensive pattern. His 1963 North Carolina Tar Heels, a swashbuckling crew of hard tacklers and crushing blockers, more than proved the Hickey method a sound one. In compiling a 9-2 record, which included a Gator Bowl victory over Air Force, the team was regarded as one of the finest in a school football history which dates back to 1889.

Hickey, who was tapped the Atlantic Coast Conference "Coach of the Year" (an honor he shared with Earle Edwards of N. C. State), is a soft-spoken tactician of 44 who has a knack of winning the press and influencing the alumni. He is calm and unexcitable during the heat of battle. He isn't a pacer, an arms flailer or a sidelines acrobat.

"The game is for the youngsters," opines Hickey, "and my part is to help direct them in their combat. I don't have time to be an actor. I'm usually busy thinking of a play which might work —or making the proper substitution."

Over-all mark for the Hickey regime is 25 wins, 26 losses. He is the first coach in Carolina history to have produced a Bowl victory. He is also the first UNC coach to have triumphed over Notre Dame, the Tar Heels licking the Irish, 12-7, in 1960.

Against arch-rival Duke, Hickey has turned in triumphs of 50-0, 7-6 and 16-14, while losing twice, 6-3 and 16-14.

This year will mark James Benton Hickey's sixth season as head coach of the Tar Heels. He took over the top post in 1959, following the death of Jim Tatum. He had served with Tatum for three years, being a member of the original group Tatum appointed following his arrival at Chapel Hill in 1956.

Hickey was coach at Hampden-Sydney College for five years (1951-1955) before he arrived on the Carolina scene. He was athletic director the last four of those five years. Hickey had an imposing record at Hampden-Sydney with 27 wins, 11 defeats and four ties. His teams won two Mason-Dixon Conference championships and twice Hickey was named Virginia's "Coach of the Year."

Hickey did his first coaching at John Marshall High School in Richmond, Va. He went there in 1947 and was head coach for four years. His record was 27 wins, 11 defeats and two ties.

The Tar Heel Coach was born on January 22, 1920, at Springdale, Pa. Springdale

THE STAFF OF ASSISTANTS

EMMETT CHEEK

Assistant Coach

The "master spy" of North Carolina's scouting system is thorough, meticulous Emmett Cheek. Besides his field duties, which finds him directing the defensive line, the former UNC letterman in football and baseball serves as director of player personnel. Emmett, who lectures the squad each week on the coming opponent, knows his football inside-out. He and Eddie Teague, head coach at The Citadel, co-authored a definitive book on scouting.

A native of Chapel Hill, Emmett, after serving his Army hitch, was a superior lineman under Carl Snavely on some of his great teams here. He also was a star catcher on the baseball team, with long hitting his forte. He received his M.A. degree in Physical Education in 1950 and has made coaching his life's work.

Cheek, who was born on Dec. 9, 1918, was line coach and baseball coach at Guilford College in 1949 and 1950. Then he joined Jim Tatum's staff at Maryland and was associated with Tatum there and here until the latter died in 1959.

Emmett is married to the former Mary Sue Moore of Greenville, N. C. They have one son.

JOE MARK

Assistant Coach

Joe Mark, who doctors the offensive line, measures the distance to the goal in terms of a nine iron, a seven iron, etc. Besides being an exceptionally fine leader and coach on the football field, he is one of Chapel Hill's best golfers. Mark, a blocking back and guard, co-captained William & Mary's 1950 squad and graduated the next spring. He joined the Carolina staff first as head freshman coach, then was transferred to his present role where he excells in teaching blocking and offensive thrust.

Mark, 35, came here with a good coaching background. He first was an assistant at William and Mary in 1953 as a graduate student after a hitch in the service. He played service football at Fort Eustis, Va. After receiving his M.A. degree at William and Mary, he coached high school football at Vero Beach, Florida.

Joe returned to William and Mary in 1956 and was on the Indian staff for three seasons. He also was golf coach at William and Mary.

Mark is married to the former Faith Ann DeBolt of Hampton, Va., where he also was born. They have a son and daughter.

VITO RAGAZZO

Assistant Coach

Quick to grin, quicker in demanding firm discipline is Vito Ragazzo, who handles Tar Heel flankmen and who played a large role in End Bob Lacey's earning All-America honors last season. Vito, a great receiver during his William & Mary days, joined the Carolina staff in 1961. He specializes in offensive tactics, helps direct play during games from the press box telephone booth.

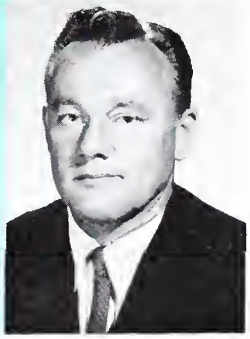
Vito, a native of Aflex, Ky., came here from Virginia Military Institute where he had coached since 1956. During that time V.M.I. had some of its finest teams.

At William and Mary, Ragazzo set a national collegiate receiving record in 1949 and graduated from that institution in 1951. (He and Mark were co-captains in 1950.) He played and coached for the Hamilton Bears of the Canadian pro league before going to VMI. He also coached a year of high school football at Vinton, Virginia.

Carolina's terminal coach is 36 years old. He is married to the former Betty Roberts of Roanoke, Va., and they have two children, a boy and a girl.

BOB THALMAN

Assistant Coach

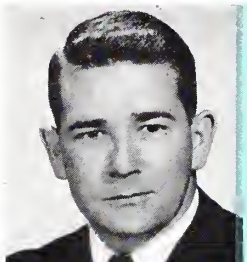


Robert J. (Bob) Thalman, beginning his 17th year of coaching, is a man of good humor and football dedication. This is his fifth year on the Carolina staff and his defensive line patterns made the 1963 Tar Heels rugged every week.

Thalman served three years with the Marines during World War II before attending the University of Richmond and graduating in 1948. There, he was a star guard and fullback. He went on to play two years of professional football with the old Richmond Rebels and then had coaching experience with the Hamilton (Ontario) Tiger-Cats.

A 41-year-old native of Wheeling, W. Va., Thalman coached successfully for three years at Benedictine High School in Richmond, Va., and two years at Norview High at Norfolk, Va. Then for four years he was athletic director and head football coach at Hampden-Sydney.

Thalman is married to the former Mary Elizabeth Schnupp of Wheeling, W. Va. They have four children, two boys and two girls.



BUD CARSON

Assistant Coach

Hard work and sound tactics make Leon (Bud) Carson one of the nation's most respected professors of pass defense. Bud learned the hard way—by playing the deep man on Carl Snavely's classy teams from 1948-51.

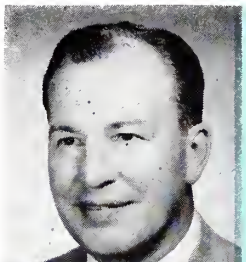
A graduate of Carolina in 1952, Carson and his younger brother, Gib, were stars during their playing days here. A native of Freeport, Pa., Bud hails from an area which has produced many fine gridders. The talented young man lives and breathes football.

After graduating from Carolina, he joined the Marines and played on the Quantico team two seasons before beginning his coaching career.

He was a successful high school coach at Scottsdale, Pa., three years and then was tapped for an assistant's post at Carolina by the late Jim Tatum when Eddie Teague moved from here to The Citadel.

One year, in Tatum's rotation system, Carson was freshman coach and had a fine season. He is beginning his fourth year on the varsity staff. He is also a scout and a recruiter and has been very successful in recruiting in his home area.

Bud is married to the former Jean Hetrich of Natrona Heights, Pa., and they have a daughter and a son.



GEORGE BARCLAY

Freshman Coach

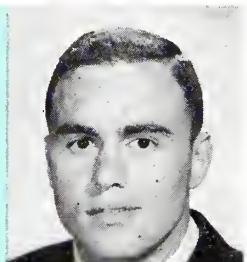
The enthusiasm George Barclay exudes today is of the same intensity that carried him to All-America honors in 1934 as a guard, the first University of North Carolina player to be so honored. A native of Natrona, Pa., George began his illustrious career at Kiski Prep prior to his UNC tenure. After graduation, he served as assistant coach at the following schools: Oberlin College, Dartmouth, VMI and Maryland. His first head coaching job was at Washington & Lee, where he constructed a glittering three-year record.

George gave up this head post to return to Chapel Hill as an assistant to Carl Snavely. In 1953 he was appointed head coach. He was succeeded in 1956 by the late Jim Tatum and went into the gas and oil business in Chapel Hill. Tatum prevailed on him to join his staff as an assistant on a part-time basis. He served in this capacity until he went to Tulane in 1960 for a one-season tour.

George still maintains his prosperous service station here with his coaching duties part-time. He is married to the former Maryellen Holbrook of Van Wert, Ohio. They have two daughters and are dedicated Chapel Hillians.

GEORGE BOUTSELIS

Assistant Coach



George Boutselis, a bright young man from Harrisburg, Pa., is the newest member of Coach Jim Hickey's staff.

The 24-year-old Boutselis served as a student assistant last year, helping direct the "scout" squad in its weekly battles against the varsity. He was well-qualified for the job, since the previous year he was one of Carolina's active quarterbacks.

"George has a fine future ahead of him," predicts Coach Hickey. "He has always been a student of football, not just a player. He wants to make a career of coaching and I feel he can go far."

Boutselis, other than his field duties, serves as a scout and recruiter for Carolina. A handsome and personable individual, he played a major role in swaying several standout members of the freshman squad to seek their education at Chapel Hill.

Boutselis is a bachelor whose college major is Industrial Relations. In scouting an opponent, Boutselis will chart the team Carolina is to face two weeks in advance. His report is then audited by Coach Cheek, who takes a personal look the week before the game is scheduled.

WARREN MORRIS

Assistant Trainer

It will be a busy fall for Warren Morris. The assistant trainer, a graduate of Iowa State Teachers College (with an M.A. degree from Maryland), begins his seventh season with the Tar Heels by handling both his and John Lacey's duties. Lacey is on leave of absence with the U.S. Olympic forces.

Morris won college monograms in four sports—football, basketball, track and baseball—after an illustrious high school athletic career in his home town, Boone, Iowa, where he was born on March 20, 1932. He also played service basketball and baseball at Fort Eustis, Va., and worked as a trainer there in the Special Service.

When he was stationed at Fort Meade he worked on the training staff at Maryland where he came to know North Carolina head trainer John Lacey, who nominated him for his job here.

Warren's sports background also includes a successful high school coaching career at the Algona, Iowa, high school. He coached football, track and baseball, in addition to serving as trainer.

He is married to the former Adel Herbst of Algona. They have two children, a boy and a girl.

A Pre-Season Report On The Tar Heels

The University of North Carolina should have another good football team this year. Coach Jim Hickey does not have a squad devoid of weaknesses, but the bright possibilities certainly overshadow the gloomy ones.

"When we began spring drills in March," said Hickey, "we realized we had to uncover some tackles. We lost three outstanding ones in Vic Esposito, Cole Kortner and Gene Sigmon. On the whole, we were quite pleased with our spring accomplishments. But we were still looking for those tackles and still are."

If Carolina is to succeed against an extremely rugged schedule, young and inexperienced men must get the job done at tackle. Only John Hill remains from last fall's formidable crew. He is a 235-pounder who knows his way around. Hickey hopes he won't have to shift any men. This may become necessary if development of novice material is slow.

Other than at tackle, the Tar Heels, Gator Bowl Champions and co-Atlantic Coast Conference kings, have a roll call which stands up with any in the nation. Block-busting Ken Willard, an All-Conference selection in both football and baseball, headlines an extremely talented backfield which is 11 strong in lettermen. Chris Hanburger, as good as any center, will run the job up front.

Among the chief losses off last year's Gator Bowl squad were End Bob Lacey, recipient of All-America honors; Quarterback Junior Edge, who was steady as a wall of concrete; and the strong boys at tackle. Lacey, who snared 51 passes, signed professionally with the Minnesota Vikings. Edge, Kortner and Esposito inked with Canadian League teams.

"We think we have found a replacement for Lacey in Bill Darnall," said Hickey. "He isn't as graceful a receiver, but he still makes the catch. We think he has a fine future. Gary Black played about half the time at quarterback last season as Edge's understudy. He's a gambler and he will scare you to death. But he will also come up with some big plays. Behind Gary will be Danny Talbott and Jeff Beaver, two blue ribbon sophomores."

Hickey and his staff tab the middle of the line as extremely well fortified. Lettermen guards Clint Eudy, Jay Malobicky and Richy Zarro are slick both offensively and defensively. The men pushing them for the job are capable, especially Ron Kaplan, John Harmon and a soph named Joe Fratangelo, who has race-horse speed.

Behind Hanburger at center are veterans Glenn Ogburn and Ed Stringer. Young Stringer seasoned quickly when Ogburn bowed out of the Clemson game with a knee injury.

Frank Gallagher, a 235-pounder constructed like a bomb shelter, spearheads the flank. John Atherton, a junior destined for stardom, and Tommy Brooks are the other lettermen. Gallagher is certain to play most of the defense. Tall Jim Harrington, who stands 6-5, appears ready to play after brief duty last fall.

In the backfield, the 220-pound Willard has 220-pound Eddie Kesler running the interference at fullback. Kesler has a steamroller personality on the grid. Behind Willard is Ron Tuthill, a co-captain with Hanburger, and behind the brainy Tuthill is Max Chapman, best known for his 42-yard field goal against Duke. Kesler must fight off such aspirants as Hank Barden, Jimmy Eason and speedy Frank Bowman at full.

Ronnie Jackson, a 9.6 speedster in track, returns as the No. 1 flanker back. He caught three touchdown passes in 1963, one good for 72 yards. Other lettermen backs include Tommy Ward, Sandy Kinney, Bill Edwards and Dave Braine. All are destined for defensive stints, while Edwards returns as the likely punter. He averaged 37.3 for 56 boots as a sophomore .

Talbott, Chapman, Braine and Edwards will handle all the kicking. Braine made good 18 of 19 extra point attempts last year. Talbott and Chapman are field goal men.

Carolina depth stacks up as sound except at tackle. The answer to that problem will be revealed during September, October and November.

Trainer John Lacey Takes Olympic Leave

John Lacey, who has served as head trainer for the Tar Heels since 1956, will be pulling for his team all the way from Tokyo this fall. He has been honored by the United States Olympic Committee and will serve as medical director of the Yankee basketball squad.

Lacey's leave of absence will cause him to miss most of the 1964 season. He had orders to join the cage squad in Hawaii for workouts beginning in early September.

The impeccable Lacey in past years has served as a trainer for three National Championship teams: football and lacrosse at Maryland, basketball at UNC. He was brought to North Carolina by the late Jim Tatum, who admired his work at Maryland.

This is Lacey's eighth season as head trainer of the Tar Heels. Prior to his duties at Maryland, he was a trainer at Yale and served with three professional football teams—the Chicago Rockets, the New York Yanks and the Baltimore Colts.

Lacey attended high school in his home town of Wallingford, Conn., and also prepped at Tilton Academy in New Hampshire. During World War II he had his first training experience at Camp Robinson Base Hospital at Little Rock, Ark. He studied at the Eastern School in New York under Dr. S. E. Bilik and the Junior College of Therapy at New Haven. He also was a student in the Yale University Department of Health.

Dapper John was born Aug. 28, 1917. He is married to the former Barbara Koch of Wallingford.

Introducing: THE 1964 TAR HEELS

QUARTERBACKS

Lettermen Returning (2)—Gary Black, Sandy Kinney.

Lettermen Lost (1)—Junior Edge.

JEFF BEAVER, 6-2, 191, 19, Sophomore, Charlotte, N. C.—Has given indication he could be one of the finest passers ever to perform here . . . Connected on well over half his tosses as a freshman . . . At Myers Park High in Charlotte his offense was confined chiefly to passing, but here he has given indication he can run, too . . . A blue chipper.

GARY BLACK, 6-0, 187, 20, Senior, Charlotte, N. C.—Had a brilliant junior year in sharing quarterback duties with Junior Edge last season . . . Hit six for six in Gator Bowl performance that drew raves by everyone who watched . . . Excells on run-pass option . . . Completed 59% of throws last fall . . . A newly-wed, he is also a baseball star.

JIMMY BYRD, 5-8, 155, 20, Junior, Raeford, N. C.—Smallest man on the squad but one of the toughest . . . Runs at big guys like a rabbit streaking for a briar patch . . . Good team player with a fine attitude and spirit . . . Captained the East-West All-Star game as a prepster.

DOZIER HASTY, 5-11, 167, 19, Sophomore, Perry, Ga.—Has played halfback and quarterback . . . His best ability is as a runner and he must improve passing to equal standards of other candidates . . . Good speed . . . Excellent attitude and shows great desire to play.

SANDY KINNEY, 6-0, 186, 21, Senior, Hendersonville, N. C.—A good player who can handle the offense when needed . . . His forte is defense and coaches consider him a reliable secondary operator . . . The redhead is quite popular with his teammates and provides top leadership.

CLINT NEAL, 6-1, 197, 20, Sophomore, Warrenton, N. C.—A leg injury kept Clint out of action during spring drills . . . He had come along fast during the past fall and was considered a youngster of real promise . . . Is learning his way around fast and could be heard from in the future.

FULLBACKS

Lettermen Lost (1)—Barry Westfall.

HANK BARDEN, 6-0, 181, 21, Senior, Greensboro, N. C.—Two year letterman . . . Hank is the type of boy, coaches say, who won't be satisfied anywhere but in the lineup . . . A broken hand suffered in the Michigan State game knocked him out most of last year . . . Has always been a terrific defensive player.

SPENCER BARROW, 6-1, 223, 19, Sophomore, Ahoskie, N. C.—Started on the frosh squad last fall gaining 126 yards on 37 carries . . . The biggest fullback on the team, his bruising play has brought raves . . . A knee injury took him out of spring drills.

FRANK BOWMAN, 5-9, 186, 20, Junior, Richmond, Va.—A vastly underrated player . . . Frank could develop into one of the finest runners here in a long time . . . Averaged 4.7 yards on 22 carries last fall . . . A good blocker, he needs more work on defense.

JIM EASON, 6-0, 192, 22, Senior, Hampton, Va.—Saw limited duty offensively but did a top-notch job on defense . . . Should be a regular in defensive secondary this year . . . His attitude makes him a good student of football . . . One of the most consistent players on the squad.

MELVIN ESTES, 5-11, 190, 20, Sophomore, Charlotte, N. C.—If he doesn't play much this fall, it's because UNC has an exceptional group of fine fullbacks . . . Showed vast improvement this spring . . . He is one of the fastest backs and a sprinter on the track team . . . Played prep ball at Garinger.

PAT HARVEY, 5-11, 200, 19, Sophomore, Wellsburg, W. Va.—Strong runner with a lot of good moves . . . Needs defensive experience and may be a year away from regular work . . . Gathered a host of prep honors including All-State . . . Life's ambition is to fly.

EDDIE KESLER, 6-0, 215, 22, Senior, Salisbury, N. C.—His bone-jarring blocks were one of the key reasons UNC's ground game went well last fall . . . Eddie has been the second leading ground gainer himself for past two seasons . . . Picked up 314 yards on 76 carries (4.1) last fall . . . Players respect him.

TIM REARDON, 6-0, 195, 19, Sophomore, Washington, N. C.—Carried eight times, scored once as a freshman . . . Owns abundant potential and is the type of boy who'll be heard of in the future . . . Chief drawback at this point—experience . . . Academically, Tim is a squad pacesetter.

WIDE ENDS

Lettermen Returning (3)—John Atherton, Frank Gallagher, Tommy Brooks.

Lettermen Lost (4)—John Hammett, Bob Lacey, Joe Robinson, Dana Wellman.

TOM BROOKS, 5-10, 175, 22, Senior, Lisbon, Ohio—Played behind All-America Bob Lacey last fall . . . Filled in capably in Duke game when Bob went out with an injury . . . A letterman, he's expected to carry a big load this year . . . Fastest lineman on the field.

NEAL CLAY, 6-0, 186, 21, Senior, Richmond, Va.—Had an excellent spring practice . . . A good, all-around performer with a good pair of hands . . . Was a teammate of tight end Axselle at Richmond's Hermitage High . . . Wants a career in accounting.

BILLY DARNALL, 6-2, 187, 20, Sophomore, Arlington, Va.—Sitting out last year has given Billy a big boost . . . He's developed into an exceptional wide end prospect . . . Making a strong bid for berth as Lacey's replacement . . . He has the size, moves, receiving ability to be a good one.

RONNIE FAIRCLOTH, 6-2, 193, 19, Sophomore, Lake Waccamaw, N. C.—A good punter, place-kicker . . . Kicked off into the end zone for the freshmen last fall . . . Recruited as a quarterback but switched to end . . . He caught seven passes for 89 yards for frosh . . . Good prospect for future play.

FRANK GALLAGHER, 6-2, 221, 21, Senior, Chester, Pa.—Defense is his forte . . . Can play either side defensively with equal effectiveness . . . Caught two passes for 52 yards last fall . . . He rates an "excellent" in the blocking department . . . A two-year letterman who has earned his spurs.

JIM GALLAGHER, 6-0, 199, 21, Senior, Chester, Pa.—Twin brother of wide end Frank . . . A former quarterback, he was switched to end only this spring . . . Working now primarily as a defensive specialist . . . Looked good at his new post in spring drills . . . A fine student.

BOB HUME, 6-1, 205, 20, Sophomore, Memphis, Tenn.—Added weight has given Bob a big boost in his bid to play this fall . . . Performed well in spring practice . . . Looks good both offensively and defensively.

BILL JOHNSON, 6-1, 196, 19, Sophomore, Huntington, N. Y.—Coaches hope he takes back up where he left off as a freshman . . . Switched from halfback to end this spring . . . Good potential—blocks, runs well . . . Likes high diving . . . Business major.

EARL JOHNSON, 6-5, 204, 20, Sophomore, Raleigh, N. C.—Played freshman basketball for UNC but passed up football . . . He is well blessed with ability, developed fast in spring drills . . . Served as president of the freshman class . . . A track and basketball star as a prep.

BOBBY KNOTT, 6-2, 198, 19, Sophomore, Roxboro, N. C.—First-team wide end on frosh squad last year . . . Led all receivers with 14 catches for 219 yards and three touchdowns . . . Soft spoken but hard hitting . . . Won a berth on All-State squad in high school.

BOB LAMB, 6-2, 203, 20, Junior, Canonsburg, Pa.—Held out last season . . . Was injured in early spring drills, hence, missed much work . . . Staff and players feel he has what it takes to make a sound flankman.

TIGHT ENDS

JOHN ATHERTON, 6-0, 214, 20, Junior, Anandale, Va.—One of finest sophomore performers on squad last fall . . . Caught 10 passes for 125 yards and one score . . . Knows his job well both offensively and defensively . . . Enjoyed his best spring ever.

BILLY AXSELLE, 6-1, 194, 21, Senior, Richmond, Va.—He owns excellent speed and he can catch the ball . . . A steady, conscientious ball player who works as hard as anyone on the squad at his game . . . His effort should pay off for him in action this fall.

TOM GOLDEN, 5-11, 197, 20, Junior, Hickory, N. C.—Primarily a defensive specialist . . . He improved his brand of play during the spring . . . Played second team as a freshman, behind Atherton . . . Made high school All-State and Shrine Bowl lists.

JIM HARRINGTON, 6-5, 227, 20, Junior, Ambler, Pa.—Played freshman ball as a quarterback before being switched to wide and then to tight end . . . His size makes him an excellent target . . . Blocking is his strong point . . . Played three sports as a freshman.

STEVE LISTER, 6-1, 185, 21, Junior, Bargaintown, N. J.—Rugged performer, especially on defense . . . He makes ball carriers earn their keep . . . Still in need of more offensive polish . . . Wrestled for Dr. Sam Barnes last winter in 177-pound class and did a good job.

CLAUDE MOORE, 6-2, 205, 19, Sophomore, Scotland Neck, N. C.—Played every backfield position plus end in high school . . . Co-captain of prep football and basketball teams . . . Played in North-South All-Star game . . . Caught two passes for eight yards for freshmen last fall.

BOB POWELL, 6-4, 201, 19, Sophomore, Greensboro, N. C.—Started along with Knott on frosh squad . . . Caught five passes for 68 yards and one touchdown . . . One of finest new end prospects . . . Played in Shrine Bowl and East-West All-Star game . . . Taking honor courses.

BO WOOD, 6-3, 207, 19, Sophomore, Barrington, N. J.—Coaches consider him excellent tight end prospect . . . Grabbed nine passes for 100 yards and two scores for frosh last fall . . . A strong youngster, he broke the UNC freshman discus mark last spring.

RUNNING BACKS

Lettermen Returning (4)—Dave Braine, Max Chapman, Ron Tuthill, Ken Willard.

Lettermen Lost (0).

DAVE BRAINE, 6-1, 173, 21, Senior, Grove City, Pa.—First-rate PAT specialist . . . Booted through 18 of 19 extra points plus a field goal for 21 points . . . He was part of the defensive backfield group that enjoyed so much success against enemy passers . . . Two year letterman.

MAX CHAPMAN, 5-11, 197, 21, Junior, Banner Elk, N. C.—It was his 42-yard field goal that broke Duke's back (16-14) and sent Carolina to the Gator Bowl . . . His FG against Virginia was the opening score of the year . . . Rushing average of 4.8 (58 yards on 12 carries) was highest on squad.

CHARLIE EPHLAND, 6-0, 186, 20, Junior, Greensboro, N. C.—Held out last season . . . Elusive runner who is hard to bring down—makes him a good bet to play . . . Scored twice as freshman . . . Made All-State, Southern team as prepster . . . Played in Shrine Bowl.

LEON FONVIELLE, 6-0, 177, 19, Sophomore, Tabor City, N. C.—Led frosh in rushes with 41 last fall . . . Scored once on a run, once on a pass (he caught four for 39 yards) . . . Showed sparks of brilliance . . . Early injury to ankle in spring curtailed his activities.

JIM FORTUNE, 6-0, 187, 19, Sophomore, Brevard, N. C.—Like Fonvielle, Fortune seemingly has the ability but injury has limited his showing so far . . . One of Big Four rushers on frosh team with 106 yards on 30 carries . . . He owns excellent moves and pace.

TOM LAMPMAN, 6-0, 205, 19, Sophomore, Roanoke, Va.—Starting wingback as a freshman where he averaged 4.1 yards per carry . . . A strong runner and all-the-way threat . . . Fastest man on frosh squad . . . Caught four passes for 54 yards last fall . . . His future appears bright.

RENNIE PITT, 5-11, 174, 19, Sophomore, Rocky Mount, N. C.—Ran with the first team off and on as freshman but injuries hampered his debut . . . Extremely fast . . . Slippery little guy with many moves . . . An ex-Shrine Bowler.

JIM SZYMAITIS, 6-2, 207, 22, Senior, Canonsburg, Pa.—He looks good at times and on these occasions can run with the best . . . Has lacked in consistency and hence lacks in playing experience.

KEN WILLARD, 6-2, 220, 21, Senior, Richmond, Va.—Candidate for All-America honors . . . His 700-plus rushing total led the ACC last year—leading Carolina ground gainer for past two seasons . . . Gator Bowl MVP . . . He slugged 11 homers for UNC's baseball team to grab All-ACC berths in two sports.

RON TUTHILL, 5-10, 177, 21, Senior, Rockingham, N. C.—He is perhaps Carolina's most underrated player . . . Does it all, does it well . . . Team co-captain along with Center Hanburger . . . He played excellent defense last fall while rushing for more than 200 yards.

WINGBACKS

Lettermen Returning (3)—Bill Edwards, Ronnie Jackson, Tommy Ward.

Lettermen Lost (1)—Roger Smith.

BILL EDWARDS, 6-0, 184, 20, Junior, Ayden, N. C.—Did lion's share of punting last season for a 37.3 average . . . Excellent all-around prospect . . . Could come through as a runner . . . Will get plenty of competition from several others as punter, but appears to have the edge right now . . . Kicks high ball ideal for punt coverage.

JOHN GREENE, 6-2, 183, 19, Sophomore, Shelby, N. C.—Saw some frosh action . . . Caught one pass as yearling . . . Is not expected to see much action because of experienced men ahead of him.

RONNIE JACKSON, 5-8, 167, 21, Senior, Rocky Mount, N. C.—Starter last fall as flankerback, he is squad's fastest man at 9.6 for 100 yards in track uniform . . . Good receiver, caught 3 TD passes . . . Despite his size, he is excellent defensive man and hard tackler . . . Anytime he gets hands on the ball he is a threat to go all the way.

GENE LINK, 5-9, 165, 20, Junior, Long Creek, N. C.—Running is his top asset . . . Held out last fall . . . A tough little competitor with a great desire to play.

ALAN McARTHUR, 5-10, 170, 20, Junior, Greenville, N. C.—Came along fast as a sophomore and by season's end was one of most dependable defensive backs on squad . . . Expected to see considerable action . . . Has break-away speed and clever running style.

GORDON HAITHCOCK, 5-10, 170, 20, Junior, Warrenton, N. C.—A promising back who was held out last year . . . Good speed and ability but is down the line in experience.

BUD PHILLIPS, 5-10, 174, 19, Sophomore, Charlotte, N. C.—Excellent receiver . . . Caught 12 passes as frosh . . . Has tricky change of pace which makes him dangerous once he receives ball . . . Won admiration of coaching staff and was put on scholarship after he arrived here . . . Is destined to play lots of ball for UNC.

TOMMY WARD, 6-1, 187, 20, Senior, Robersonville, N. C.—Injury limited his play last fall . . . Regarded as one of toughest and hardest hitting backs on the squad . . . Should play defense for No. 1 unit . . . Has shown vast improvement each year on squad.

CENTERS

Lettermen Lost (0).

CHUCK ALEXANDER, 6-0, 200, 19, Sophomore, Newton Square, Pa.—Got off to a fast start as a frosh but was slowed by leg injury after first few games . . . A hard worker with good possibilities.

GREG BATTISTELLO, 6-0, 198, 19, Junior, Aflex, Ky.—Red-shirted last fall . . . Behind Stringer as a yearling . . . Good blocker . . . Fine attitude . Is a nephew of Assistant Coach Vito Ragazzo.

CHUCK BOGGS, 6-0, 193, 20, Junior, Cartersville, Va.—Converted from a guard a year ago . . . Played with red shirts last fall . . . Shows a willingness to work and could see some varsity duty this year.

CHRIS HANBURGER, 6-0, 197, 23, Senior, Hampton, Va.—One of America's best linemen . . . All-ACC, honorable mention All-America . . . Made numerous all-opponent teams . . . Will be defensive leader and co-captain of Tar Heels . . . Teammates vote him roughest lad on squad.

GARY LAIL, 5-11, 220, 20, Sophomore, Taylorsville, N. C.—Took many honors in high school . . . Was considered a good prospect on a frosh team last fall that was loaded with centers.

GLENN OGBURN, 5-10, 205, 22, Senior, Leaksville, N. C.—Was doing excellent job as No. 2 center last fall until receiving knee injury in Clemson game . . . Underwent knee surgery and missed remaining games of season . . . Good blocking and good size make him a valuable pivot man . . . He should share duties with Stringer in backing up Hanburger.

ED STRINGER, 6-1, 211, 20, Junior, Ardmore, Pa.—Took over after Ogburn's sidelining and was more than adequate . . . Rugged lad with a bright future . . . Strong as a linebacker and appears to be growing each year . . . Top prospect.

VAN WARRINGTON, 6-3, 205, 20, Sophomore, Wilmington, Del.—Does not mind rough work . . . Saw considerable action as a frosh center . . . Father (Tex) was All-America at Auburn.

LEFT TACKLE

Lettermen Returning (1)—John Hill.

Lettermen Lost (5)—Vic Esposito, Cole Kortner, Rusty Hodges, Jim Naughton, Gene Sigmon.

OMAR BRADLEY, 6-0, 224, 19, Sophomore, Point Pleasant, W. Va.—Why shouldn't he be called General? . . . Played guard with the freshmen last fall . . . Keeps his teammates in laughs with his backwoods humor . . . Co-captain and most outstanding lineman in high school . . . All-State choice.

JOE CHURCHILL, 6-3, 215, 19, Junior, Roanoke, Va.—Stood in shadows all last fall but appears ready to make his move . . . It would be hard to find a Tar Heel who likes contact better . . . He lacks a strong charge but is rough and ready all the way.

LEE DAVIS, 6-2, 210, 20, Sophomore, Grove City, Pa.—Battled for starting job on frosh squad . . . Excells in hustle and has good working knowledge of line play . . . Easily one of the better boys up from the freshman team . . . Does a good job in the classroom.

DAVE ERIMIAS, 6-1, 222, 20, Sophomore, Sharpsville, Pa.—Ran first string as guard with freshmen . . . Switched to trouble spot in hopes of plugging up gap . . . Poise, power, he has plenty of . . . Excellent varsity prospect.

BUZ HODGES, 6-2, 219, 20, Sophomore, Portsmouth, Va.—He has what it takes: size, strength, savvy . . . Played first team with the frosh on the right side . . . Has ingredients to make an excellent lineman . . . A handsome, cleancut youngster.

BOB NEWMAN, 6-0, 228, 21, Junior, Collingswood, N. J.—Bob owns as much muscle as any lineman or back on the squad . . . Held out last fall, coaches are looking to him to ease the tackle problem . . . Plays hard, rough football . . . His size and ability will be needed.

DON PRILLAMAN, 6-0, 215, 21, Junior, Chapel Hill—An injury early in spring practice took Don out of play . . . He has shown promise of being a comer . . . Hometown boy who had a top prep career . . . Named to All-Conference and All-Eastern North Carolina teams.

RIGHT TACKLE

BILLY HIGH, 6-0, 225, 19, Sophomore, Raleigh, N. C.—Strong, durable, saw much action last year with frosh . . . Played with state champion team (AAAA) during prep career . . . Good team man . . . Shrine Bowl, East-West All-Star game . . . He could be a sleeper.

JOHN HILL, 5-11, 235, 21, Senior, Greensboro, N. C.—Two-year letterman and the only veteran tackle returning . . . Gave an excellent performance last fall . . . He is the team's biggest player . . . Coaches are depending on a good performance from John to bolster interior line play.

PAT JESSUP, 6-2, 218, 19, Sophomore, Elizabethtown, N. C.—Getting needed experience for future duty . . . Played center and guard positions in high school . . . Named to All-Conference squad three years running . . . A Morehead scholarship finalist . . . East-West All-Star game.

RAY MEADOR, 6-3, 231, 19, Sophomore, Roanoke, Va.—Captain and MVP in high school . . . One of biggest linemen on field . . . Coaches like his future . . . Needs to develop more quickness . . . Likes to swim and ski . . . A prospective business major.

BOB STARCZEWSKI, 6-0, 212, 20, Junior, Natrona Heights, Pa.—His spring showing was exceptionally pleasing . . . Illness cost him his sophomore year . . . He owns size, strength to become top lineman.

SAMMY WILLIAMS, 6-2, 218, 19, Sophomore, Tabor City, N. C.—One of the strongest boys on the team . . . Missed part of frosh season with shoulder injury . . . He works hard, plays hard . . . As a prep, he made All-Eastern North Carolina team two years.

LEFT GUARD

Lettermen Lost (6)—Jim Alderman, Jerry Cabe, G. Ellison, Curtis Ish, Ray Paulos, Loren Wells.

CLINT EUDY, 6-2, 220, 21, Senior, China Grove, N. C.—A solid and dependable player for two seasons, he should have a big year . . . An excellent student, Clint came to UNC as a Morehead scholar . . . Extremely fast for a big man, he does his job well both offensively and defensively . . . One of the best.

JOE FRATANGELO, 5-10, 198, 20, Sophomore, East Rutherford, N. J.—One of the bright cogs of a fine freshman line last season . . . His defensive ability is rated superior and he was one of the most important blockers on the squad during spring drills . . . Short and compact, he has extraordinary strength and speed, far above average . . . Should see lots of action.

TOM GALLAHAN, 6-2, 210, 19, Sophomore, Alexandria, Va.—Lack of experience is his biggest problem . . . Also could use more speed . . . Must work up through the ranks.

RONNIE KAPLAN, 5-9, 200, 21, Junior, Greensboro, N. C.—A Cinderella-man on the squad last year, he worked his way from far down the list to a member of the traveling squad on sheer drive and determination . . . His attitude and desire assure him of playing this year . . . Seems to enjoy rough work and can be found at the bottom of every pile.

PETE KIRVAN, 6-0, 196, 22, Senior, Alexandria, Va.—Played football as an end last year . . . Shifted to guard . . . Aggressive . . . One of the squad's most willing workers.

DON LOVEDAY, 6-1, 190, 22, Senior, Knoxville, Tenn.—Was in the thick of doings as freshman end two years ago but did not make it with varsity . . . Coaches shifted him to guard where it's hoped his talent can be utilized.

RIGHT GUARD

BUTCH CLAYTON, 6-1, 194, 19, Sophomore, Rocky Mount, N. C.—A real scrapper when in top shape . . . Ulcer slowed his duty as a freshman and he was limited to spot action in some games . . . Injury claimed him in early spring work . . . Coaching staff feels he has ability to be a prime varsity candidate.

CHARLIE DAVIS, 5-10, 192, 22, Junior, New Bern, N. C.—Strong and possesses good speed . . . Returned here last fall after a stint in service . . . A good wrestler . . . A broken hand kept him out of contention in 1963.

JOHN HARMON, 6-0, 205, 20, Junior, Statesville, N. C.—A Morehead scholar, John is a leader in extracurricular activities as well as an excellent football player . . . A hand injury kept him out of action last year . . . Strong and quick, he should come into his own as a junior.

JAY MALOBICKY, 6-0, 201, 21, Senior, Natrona Heights, Pa.—Turned in some sensational play last fall after being switched from center to guard . . . Likes football and the contact it offers . . . He has the size and ability to become one of the Conference's best.

CHUCK SLEDGE, 6-1, 195, 19, Junior, Morehead City, N. C.—Held out last season . . . Has potential but must work up through the ranks.

RICHY ZARRO, 6-0, 200, 21, Senior, Bloomfield, N. J.—His spirit and do-or-die attitude meant much to the over-all success of the 1963 Gator Bowl champions . . . Eager, willing and able, he gives 100% when in action . . . Good speed comes from being an ex-fullback . . . Has both defensive and offensive know-how.

WHAT'S OUR POSITION?

OFFENSIVELY		DEFENSIVELY
Gone is Bob Lacey, who caught 51 last season, but Bill Darnall, up from the redshirts, could be a sleeper. He's sound as a receiver and an excellent runner. Tommy Brooks is a speed merchant. Frank Gallagher, John Atherton and leggy Jim Harrington have good hands. The offensive flankmen can hold their own.	THE ENDS	At 230 pounds, Frank Gallagher is a rock wall. Atherton, Steve Lister and others are knowledgable and tough to turn. Gone are Joe Robinson and John Hammett, but the station appears to be well manned.
The loss of three top performers like Esposito, Gene Sigmon and Kortner obviously hurts. John Hill is a sound and rugged college tackle. He can clash with the best of foes. Since the new sub rule will allow specializing, it is felt the offensive picture will be better than defense. Untried men will have to do the job if the Tar Heels deliver a steady attack.	THE TACKLES	It will be John Hill and a prayer for several surprise packages. The size of Carolina's tackles is not a problem. Big men are available. How they react under fire is the question. Cole Kortner and Vic Esposito wouldn't be moved back, hence the front line defense in '63 was fierce. Only time will tell.
All of the top guards are capable blockers and their speed is above average. The guards were prominent in UNC's record-breaking offense of last season. They are expected to be leaders this year.	THE GUARDS	Athletes like Jay Malobicky, Richy Zarro, Clint Eudy, Ronnie Kaplan, John Harmon and Joe Fratangelo are as good as anybody's. Fratangelo, a soph, has tiger quickness and could be a sensation. Malobicky came fast after a switch from center and at times was a terror. Eudy is big, strong. Zarro is the mark of desire.
The top three—Chris Hanburger, Glenn Ogburn and Ed Stringer—do a smart job offensively. Ogburn probably holds an edge here. They are above average college centers.	THE CENTERS	Hanburger won All-ACC laurels for his dynamic linebacking last fall. He's great. Stringer and Ogburn have size and drive. Linebacking is in good hands.
Quarterback Junior Edge is the major loss of last year. He was a good leader, a vastly underrated fellow. The offense has 11 experienced men, headed by Ken Willard, Gary Black, Ed Kesler and Ron Jackson. It's a vet backfield with savvy. The reserves are capable and deep. With a little help up front, Carolina will move. Sophs Danny Talbott, Jeff Beaver and Tom Lampman have what it takes.	THE BACKS	A superb pass defense against some of the nation's top flingers paid off for the Tar Heels in '63. The backs that made this possible for the most part return. The year's experience should make them sharper and more poised. Count on the defensive backfield to do an excellent job.

THE EDUCATIONAL FOUNDATION

ORIGIN AND INCORPORATION

Three loyal and athletic-minded University of North Carolina alumni met in the office of Secretary of State Thad Eure at Raleigh in December of 1938 and organized The Educational Foundation, Inc.

They were John W. Umstead, Jr., of Chapel Hill, Max Abernethy of Raleigh and Benton Stacy of Reidsville.

A charter was drawn, with these three men as the incorporators, and submitted to the late O. Max Gardner, who had his law firm clear it with the Internal Revenue Department as a charitable organization.

The charter was issued on December 7, 1938.

PURPOSE

The purpose of The Educational Foundation, Inc., is to raise funds for providing scholarships or grants-in-aid at the University to worthy and qualified high school students with athletic ability.

There are similar organizations at all institutions where athletics are considered important and beneficial, and where other means of providing such assistance are not available.

The Educational Foundation, Inc., operates on a dignified and realistic plane in compliance with all of the regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

It has the blessings and good will of the University administration and, in its unique field, occupies a status comparable to that of the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation, and other money raising organizations working for the benefit of the University.

REQUIREMENTS FOR MEMBERSHIP

Any person, approved by the Executive Committee, who makes a donation is entitled to membership in The Educational Foundation, Inc. He remains in good standing as long as he makes an annual contribution.

It is not required that a member of The Educational Foundation, Inc., be an alumnus of the University. Some of the Foundation's largest and most faithful contributors did not attend the University, but are supporters of the institution and its athletic teams.

ADMINISTRATION AND OPERATION

The full amount of all donations of Foundation members is used for scholarships and grants. The organization has no administrative expense.

Executive Secretary of the Educational Foundation is Ernie Williamson.

Born in Crewe, Va., on Sept. 9, 1922, Ernie, a giant of a man, is a North Carolina graduate with A.B. and M.A. degrees. He played one season of football here under Carl Snavely in 1946 and was a tremendous tackle. He was lured away to play professional football and had tenures with Washington and Los Angeles before his career was cut short by a knee injury.

Ernie returned to Chapel Hill to complete his education and went to the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn., where he was an assistant football coach two years and head coach three years. He also coached wrestling and track.

Married to the former Elva Smith of Lawrenceville, Va., Ernie is the father of a son and daughter.

BENEFITS

All donations to The Educational Foundation, Inc., are tax-deductible.

Foundation members are given priority on seat locations for football games, being permitted to buy tickets for a prescribed period before they are put on sale to alumni who are non-members and to the general public.

ERNIE WILLIAMSON

Executive Secretary

Foundation members are constantly kept directly informed about the University's athletic program through detailed letters from coaches, brochures and special meetings which are attended by the athletic staff.

A Foundation membership is a badge of prestige and alma mater loyalty.

Foundation members also enjoy the great personal satisfaction of knowing they are assisting fine and worthy young men through college who otherwise would be unable to obtain a college education.

THE RAMS, INC.

Educational Foundation members who contribute as much as $100 qualify for membership in THE RAMS, INC.

Rams receive number one priority on seat locations, permanently assigned.

In addition, they are issued season parking permits in selected parking areas.

Rams who donate $500 or more, in addition to the other benefits, are given by the Educational Foundation, gratis, four season tickets to all home games in football.

Kenan Stadium: A Campus Showplace

This season will mark the first full year for the remodeled version of Kenan Stadium. Last fall the upper decks were not fully completed when the University of Virginia opened the home season at Chapel Hill.

Through the generosity of William Rand Kenan, Jr., a gift of more than $1,000,000 was received by the University for the new addition. Some 43,000 permanent seats are offered, eliminating end zone seats unless an overflow turnout is expected. If bleachers are erected, Kenan Stadium can seat 50,000 fans.

Athletic Director Chuck Erickson, who was a personal envoy to Mr. Kenan in planning the handsome structure, said that the donor was insistent that: (1) the "new look" offer first class facilities, (2) that the architecture assure the beauty and uniqueness of the original setting.

This was accomplished. The facilities, including unusual ramps to the upper decks, are the equal of any stadium in America. The looks of picturesque Kenan Stadium, long ranked as one of the world's most beautiful athletic arenas, has, if anything, improved.

Kenan Stadium was originally constructed in 1926 as a memorial to Mr. Kenan's parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave. The project was completed in 1927 and was dedicated at the Carolina-Virginia game in November of that year.

The seating capacity at that time was 24,000 and the cost of the structure was $375,000. Mr. Kenan also directed building of the Kenan Fieldhouse in the east end of the arena at a cost of $28,000.

The stadium has been a favorite project of Mr. Kenan through the years. It was his gift sometime later that enabled portable seats to be installed in the end zones and to provide an upper deck above th permanent stands. Total capacity reached approximate ly 44,000.

In 1949, a modern press box providing space fo newsmen, photographers, and radio and TV—and guest box on the opposite side of the field for 30 guests—were constructed on orders from Mr. Kenar The Fieldhouse was improved at a cost of $65,000.

"Mr. Kenan's gift enabled us to provide permanen seats for our expanding student body, faculty an alumni," said Mr. Erickson. "When Kenan Stadiur was put into use some 36 years ago, the student bod was about 2,400. Today it is 11,000."

Mr. Kenan was born in North Carolina in 1873. H was a graduate of the University, class of 1894. I 1944, his alma mater awarded him the honorary de gree of LL.D.

Mr. Kenan's love for the University and particularl for his interest in football date to his boyhood. H was an outstanding player in his student days a Chapel Hill and won letters as a halfback.

A vigorous and active person, Mr. Kenan's gifts t the University have been many. He and his family se up the Kenan Professorship fund, which supplement salaries of distinguished professors.

When Kenan Stadium was originally built, it wa considered something of an outpost from the campus Today, with the building program at Chapel Hil mushrooming, the handsome edifice is coming close and closer to the heart of the campus.

Mr. Kenan made a decision on one finishing touc for the Stadium. He has presented another gift to th University for the addition of two wings, plus a re modeling of the Fieldhouse. It will include a specia room for Rams Club members. Cost: $100,000.

HUTCH HAS RETIRED

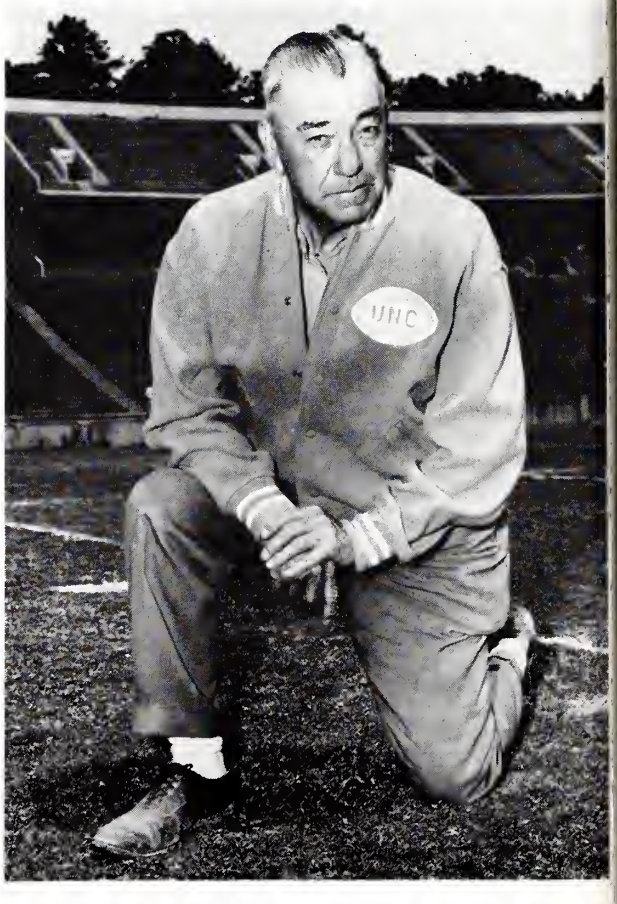
A human landmark around Kenan Stadium — Raymond Hutchins — said good-bye during the summer to the field which he so proudly manicured for the past 22 years. Hutch has retired.

No person on campus spent as much time at Kenan as Hutch. No one has been so closely associated with its growth and well-being.

"I helped build the original Kenan Stadium," recalls Hutch. "The year was 1926 and we finished it in 1927. People around here called it a mammoth structure. It seated 24,000. I helped in the remodeling and tiering in 1963. Now Kenan has 43,000 permanent sideline seats and looks just as pretty as ever."

Ray Hutchins had been a part of the Chapel Hill scene since 1920, when he was a member of a construction outfit building dormitories. He officially went to work for the University in 1942 as Grounds Maintenance Superintendent.

The turf at Kenan is considered by football authorities to be among the nation's finest. Hutch regarded each blade of grass as if it were a prize rose bush.



A HISTORY Of FOOTBALL

Football is no baby at the University of North Carolina. It has been around, in one shape or another, since 1888 and is quite an old man now. In fact, the Tar Heels played in the State's first intercollegiate game. Mr. John Motley Morehead, one of the college's most illustrious alumni and donor of the fabulous Morehead Planetarium, among many other gifts, was a member of the team.

North Carolina contested Wake Forest in that first game. The date was October 18, 1888, and the site was Raleigh. It was State Fair week and the game was chronicled as one of the most interesting features of the festival.

In those days when a team scored a goal, a game was over. Then they started from scratch and went after each other again. North Carolina scored the first goal; Wake Forest, the next two. So Wake Forest picked up the marbles and is historically credited with the day's victory.

Charles S. Mangum, A. H. Patterson, George Graham, George Ransom, J. S. Holmes and Henry A. Gilliam were other members of Bob Bingham's North Carolina team. North Carolina Chief Justice W. A. Devin was one of the Wake Forest players.

Later that year, on Thanksgiving Day, Carolina played Duke (then Trinity), another football pioneer of this area. Carolina was beaten, 16-0.

North Carolina's first really great team came in 1892. It was no two-platoon job. Only one substitute was made during the entire season as the team won five and lost one. And in 1898 Carolina was unbeaten and untied. No other Carolina football team has accomplished that feat.

Smith Barrier's excellent and monumental "On Carolina's Gridiron," a history of the sport at Chapel Hill—published in 1937, listed the 1892, 1895, 1898, 1905, 1929 and 1935 teams as the University's greatest—as selected by a committee. Some of the more modern teams, notably those of the Charlie Justice era, could be added to the list. Carolina's 1948 team ranked third in the nation by the Associated Press poll, to top all rankings for Carolina football teams. That team was undefeated in the regular season but was tied 7-7 by William and Mary.

Among the other truly outstanding Carolina teams were 1914 (10-1) with 359 points to opponents' 49; 1922 (9-1); 1925 (7-1-1); 1934 (7-1-1); 1936 (8-2); and 1937 (7-1).

Doggie Trenchard coached the high scoring 1914 team on which Captain Dave Tayloe was a star.

The Fetzer brothers, Bill and Bob, took over in 1921. Their 1922 team, captained by Grady Pritchard, was the most successful. The Tar Heels lost only to Yale, then a gridiron power, and three times in that game they went over for touchdowns in an attack led by "Monk" McDonald, but all three scores were called back on account of penalties.

The only loss in 1925 was to Wake Forest, and this was the last of the Fetzer-coached teams. Chuck Collins, one of the "Seven Mules" of the Notre Dame Four Horsemen, took over in 1926 for an engaging and intriguing eight-year span. Kay Kyser introduced his famous Cheerios and Mr. William Rand Kenan, Jr., handed the University a check for $275,000 to be used for building Kenan Stadium.

Red Whisnant captained the first Collins eleven; Garrett Morehead, the second (the year Kenan Stadium was dedicated); and Harry Schwartz, the third. Their teams played colorful football but lost too many games. It was not until 1929 that the enigmatic Collins turned out a team to attract national attenion. Led by Ray Farris, a hell-for-leather guard, the Tar Heels bowled over all opponents with imposing scores and lost only to Georgia.

This was the team of a "hundred backs" which worked in combinations. Collins was a pioneer. He had one player who did nothing except kick off. His name was Ezra Rowe and he was pretty good at the business. Collins' most colorful player was Johnny Branch, a terrific runner. Chuck Erickson, current athletic director, was a member of Collins' stable of ponies.

When Collins departed, Carl Snavely moved in and had great teams in 1934 and 1935. George Barclay was Carolina's first All-America player in 1934. Charlie Shaffer came into his own. The 1935 team lost only to Duke in the season's finale, knocking it out of a Rose Bowl bid. Andy Bershak, Don Jackson and Crowell Little were among the aces.

Next was the Ray Wolf era. His 1937 team beat Duke, but the Tar Heels did not win another game from their arch rivals until 1940 when they scored a 6-3 upset. Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin, George Stirnweiss, Harry Dunkle and Steve Maronic are among the best remembered of Wolf's players.

The war years were synthetic and after that Snavely came back. A host of new stars, including the incomparable Charlie Justice, matriculated here. He and Art Weiner led the way through four glorious seasons in which the Tar Heels won two Southern Conference championships and played in three major bowls. Every player was a star. Duke went down four years in a row. The talent was handsome and the play was flaming and colorful.

There followed a lull in Carolina wins after Justice and Co. departed. Coach Snavely bowed out in 1952 and was succeeded by George Barclay. In 1956, Jim Tatum, fresh from a triumphant tour at Maryland, returned to his alma mater.

Tatum served three years, winning six, losing four his second and third seasons. In July of 1959, Sunny Jim was struck down by a mysterious virus, halting his career with a suddenness that stunned the sports world. Jim Hickey, an able assistant, was chosen as Tatum's successor.

This marks Hickey's sixth year at the helm. His 1963 production was his finest, a squad which won 9, lost 2 and provided a season of thrills, an Atlantic Coast Conference co-championship and a Gator Bowl crown. The Tar Heels, once again, seemed to have found the glory and satisfaction of winning football.

THE CARMICHAEL CUP and how it was won

The Carmichael Cup, emblematic of excellence in all athletics during a school year, was awarded the University of North Carolina for 1963-64. In producing a 12-sport program which ranked superior to all other Atlantic Coast conference schools, the Tar Heels ousted the defending champions from the University of Maryland, 81 to 80½. A first-place finish accounts for eight points in each sport. The Tar Heels won or shared in four crowns, plus finishing in first division in 11 of 12 sports. In compiling the highest total score in the history of Carmichael competition, Carolina proved its sports program ranks with any in the nation.

A THUNDEROUS YEAR: A winning football season is the goal of every squad. Such being the case, there must be some losers to accommodate the more fortunate victors. Carolina stayed on the sunny side of the street in 1963 with one of its finest football teams ever. An 8-2 over-all record during the season, then a Gator Bowl title to ice the cake. When Coach Jim Hickey cited reasons for success, he included talent, desire, depth and alert playing. He thanked the squad, students and faculty for their combined support. An extra accolade was tossed to former Chancellor William B. Aycock. Said Hickey: "He gave us his personal attention at practice and he cheered for us during the games. His faith in our efforts meant much to the coaching staff and the squad. We presented him the game football after our victory over Duke. We will always consider Chancellor Aycock one of football's most worthy friends."

Jim Hickey

Chancellor Aycock

SWIMMING SENSATIONAL: The Tar Heels had one of their greatest swimming teams. It was a co-champion of the ACC, took third in the Eastern Championships and placed sixth nationally. Six of Coach Pat Earey's men won All-America acclaim. They were Harrison Merrill (with his coach), Davis Roberts, Thompson Mann, Fred Lipp, Rick Forum and John Sheldon. The swimming squad was a dedicated group and hard work was its hobby. Only Mann is graduated from the All-America list. A classy freshman class will help pad the varsity, so look for Earey's eels to move swiftly again.

Pat Earey

Harrison Merrill

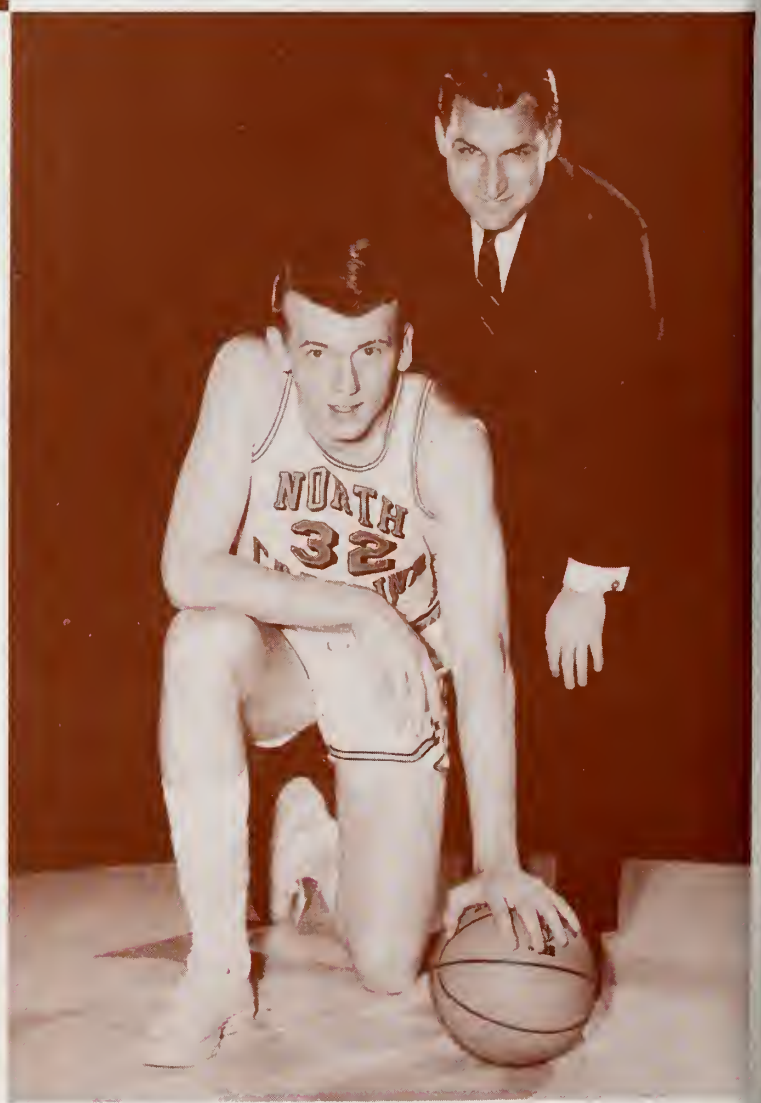
Conny Steele

THE NEWEST SPORT: Lacrosse, a game invented by the Indians to prepare them for Custer's Last Stand, became an official varsity sport here last spring. It was a revival of sorts, for back in the 1940's the game had been played by a squad representing the University. Conny Steele took over as head coach and molded a team which played a major role in the Carmichael Cup standings. A victory over Duke in the final game of the season earned the Tar Heels a ranking of third behind Virginia and Maryland—and six important Cup points. A loss here would have ticketed Maryland for the crown.

Joe Hilton

WINGED FEET—Track is a story of hard work, competitive heart and two foes: man and clock. Nort Carolina's reputation in track has been a good on Coach Joe Hilton, who succeeded the late Dale Ransor maintained the same high standards. His cross countr team went unbeaten and captured the Atlantic Coas Conference crown. His spring track program earned third in the league. Indoor track found the Tar Hee also rating a third spot. Dale White, the league's 10 yard king (9.6), returns and, bolstered by a crackerjac frosh squad, the Tar Heels will be formidable in 1964.

THE CAGE SPORT—Coach Dean Smith, posed with a smiling Billy Cunningham, expects to floor one of his best clubs in 1964-65. The Tar Heels won 12 of 24 last winter to fall below their normal winning ways, but they made it to the semi-finals of the league tournament. Cunningham, brilliant in rebounding and a magician at making shots, earned an All-America ranking from the Basketball Writers of America. He is back to captain a team which should have its spectacular moments. In the future: a new arena for the basketball team which will offer the ultimate in accommodations. It will be ready for the 1965-66 season.



Billy Cunningham Dean Smith

'HE SOCCER BEAT: Marvin Allen played on North 'arolina's first soccer club in the late 1930's. He took ver as head coach in 1947. His clubs have been capable nd well-coached through the years. Last fall Allen's ces finished third in the ACC. Allen's teams have won 5 matches, lost 42 and tied 10 during his UNC career. Vith an above-average freshman club last season, the arsity can expect solid help. Many good men were lost, ut Allen forecasts another winning year.

Marvin Allen

Sam Barnes and Friends

THE GOOD DOCTOR: Dr. Sam Barnes is a man (and professor) of good English, good humor and good wrestling. His matmen finished second in the Atlantic Coast and one of the squadmen, 123-pounder Paul Wellstone, went undefeated and earned a league title. The squad was a capable one—and it should be a better one this coming year. Coach Barnes arrived on the Carolina scene in 1950. He is seen roping three of his mainstays of last season—Dick Blackmon, Ken Furr and Wellstone (top to bottom).

Keith Stoneman Don Skakle

NET MAGIC: North Carolina lost only two of 18 matches last spring but for the first time in seven years failed to win the Atlantic Coast Conference crown although they did win the ACC tournament held in Durham. The Tar Heels also won the Eastern Championship to pad their book of honors. Tennis is one of Carolina's most successful sports. As many as 4,000 have watched a match here. In a history dating back to 1909, the Tar Heels have won more than 600 matches against some 75 defeats. Skakle was a teammate of Vic Seixas, this year's Davis Cup captain, during his playing days at UNC.

Les Fleisher Ed Kenney

ON THE LINKS: Carolina's pine-lined, rolling Finley Golf Course is one of the most extensively used facilities in Chapel Hill. The golfers of 1964, coached by veteran Ed Kenney, won 10 of 14 matches and finished in a tie for third in the conference. Prospects are bright for next year and the Tar Heels should be a contender in the ACC race. Kenney, who took over for Athletic Director Chuck Erickson in 1960, has compiled a record of 43-18-2 during his five years as links tutor.

PEFRECT RECORD: No team in Atlantic Coast Conference annals had sailed through a season without a loss until the Tar Heels pulled the trick last spring. Each of the conference teams was defeated twice for a 14-0 record and a bid to the NCAA Regionals. There the Carolina club was ousted in the finals by the University of Mississippi and wound up with an overall record of 24-7, most wins by a UNC squad in a history dating back to 1867. Pitcher Bill Haywood was 9-0 during the regular season and many of his stints bordered on the spectacular side. Burly Ken Willard drove in 40 runs for an ACC record, struck 11 home runs.

Walter Rabb Bill Haywood

Ken Willard

Willard, Haywood and Shortstop Jim Speight made the All-Conference team. Righthander Haywood was accorded additional honors with a second-team berth on the All-America squad. Coach Walter Rabb, an old hand at producing exciting teams, calls the 1963 crew "a real bunch of scrappers who were a fine credit to the University." Rabb's special reward was being named "Coach of the Year" in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

THE OTHER TEAM: Good coaching and good athletes paid off for Carolina during the school year of 1963-64, but there is another factor behind the success story. CAROLINA SPIRIT! The students, the faculty, the townspeople, the alumni and just plain fans gave the Tar Heels their tremendous and traditional backing. They cheered long and loud at all home events. When the Tar Heels went on the road, they always had friends trailing along. More than 10,000 showed up at Jacksonville for the Gator Bowl. In final analysis, the formula for UNC's blazing year was: coaching, plus players, plus enthusiastic backers. The ultimate tribute is the presence of the Carmichael Cup in the school's trophy case. Said Athletic Director Chuck Erickson (inset): "I salute the coaches, their superb teams and Tar Heel backers. The combination of Carolina spirit and field know-how developed a proud and bountiful year."

THE MAN FOR WHOM THE CUP IS NAMED: William D. Carmichael Jr., for whom the Carmichael Cup is named, was one of the University of North Carolina's most outstanding athletes. He was highly successful in athletics and business because of his great competitive spirit. He served as vice president and finance officer of the Consolidated University of North Carolina from 1940 until his untimely death in 1961. On two occasions, he was also acting president of the Consolidated University.

SERIES RECORD: UNC 0, Michigan State 2, Tied 0
CAPTAIN: Charles Migyanka

1964 OUTLOOK: Lightning will have to strike twice for Michigan State to have a football winner such as the surprising 1963 club which won six, lost two, tied one and just missed the Big Ten title. Major problem will be rebuilding lines and offensive backfield. Quarterback appears to be strongest position with three lettermen returning. Lou Bobich makes kicking game strong. Speed isn't expected to be up to 1963 standards.

1964 OUTLOOK: Coach Bill Tate, in his first season at the Wake Forest helm, sees a shortage of depth as the big problem facing the Deacs in 1964. "I was pleased with our progress during spring practice, but we still have some problems to solve," Tate says. With 21 lettermen on hand, the Deacs expect to have holdovers at all starting positions except left guard and center. The starting backfield should list John Mackovic at quarterback, Wayne Welborn and Joe Carazo at the halfbacks and Brian Piccolo at fullback. Tackle appears to be the problem spot, while end and fullback appear to be the strongest positions.

1964 OUTLOOK: Louisiana State University, often called the best ambulance corps team in collegiate football in 1963, hopes to shed that dubious title this fall. The big question mark that still stands out is the condition of the most publicized shoulder injury of the past year—that of quarterback Pat Screen. Will the youngster, whose potential sophomore brilliance in 1963 was shattered by a shoulder separation, be able to pick up where he left off? Six of seven starting linemen from last year's team must be replaced before the first whistle blows, and this could be crucial. No one will fault the potential of the Tiger running game since the LSU team led the Conference in this category in 1963 and two young men who contributed to a major share of the yardage return—halfback Joe Labruzzo and fullback Donald Schwab. Big Remi Prudhomme could help solve part of the line problem.

1964 OUTLOOK: Kenny Ambrusko and Jim Corcoran of the 1962 team who did not play last year apparently will take up the quarterback slack left by Shiner's graduation. If a pair of sophomore ends, Dick Absher (6-4, 230) and Charley Myrtle (6-2, 200) play up to their potential, Terps could revert to winning ways interrupted last year for the first time since 1958. Jerry Fishman, team's leading ground-gainer last year, shifted to guard, and interior linemen could be some of the strongest in the conference. Ambrusko's running-passing could give the Terps wide-open attack with possibilities of scoring from anywhere on the field.

1964 OUTLOOK: South Carolina hopes to improve over last year's disappointing showing with the aid of prospects up from an unbeaten freshman team. However, there is no substitute for experience and Coach Marvin Bass is counting on the boys who absorbed the lumps with last year's varsity capitalizing on the experience gained. There are 24 lettermen. Quarterback Dan Reeves made it through spring practice without injury for the first time in his career. He is backed up by a more experienced Jimmy Rogers and a fine sophomore in Ted Wingard. Tackle Steve Cox is a fine lineman and Marty Rosen rates with the best halfbacks in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

1964 OUTLOOK: Coach Frank Howard, getting ready to field his 25th Clemson team, has probably his biggest rebuilding job in a decade as he lost 13 men off the first 22 from last year's team which won five, lost four and tied one. After failing to gain a victory in the first half of the season, the Tigers finished strong, winning the final five, scoring 127 points in the latter half of the season while holding the opposition to 33. Howard has been able to move lettermen into every first team slot, but there are seven sophomores on the alternate unit.

THE WAY IT HAPPENED LAST FALL

Carolina 11, Virginia 7

The Tar Heels dominated the game in every department—but found it necessary to come from behind to dispose of the Cavaliers. Max Chapman's 27-yard field goal gave the home forces a lead at halftime, but Virginia took the opening kickoff of the second half and Henry Massie returned it 99 yards for a touchdown. Carolina paraded up and down the field, but missed countless scoring opportunities. Finally, with 5:01 remaining in the final period, Halfback Ken Willard bucked across from one yard. Willard then took a pass from Gary Black for the two-point conversion. A crowd of 30,000 watched Carolina pile up 330 offensive yards to Virginia's 80. The Cavaliers didn't complete a single pass.

Va.	0	0	7	0— 7
UNC	3	0	0	8—11

Carolina 0, Michigan State 31

Sherm Lewis, an All-America choice at halfback, took a lateral following a forward pass and set the Spartans of the Big Ten off to an early lead. However, the big item in this one was Carolina's sputtering offense, the only time in ten games the Tar Heels failed to roll. Despite the score, the UNC defense played a good game. It was on call simply too much and tired. The Tar Heels earned only 104 net yards and on countless occasions missed big opportunities. Breaking point was failure to get away a fourth-down kick in the third quarter. Michigan State, ahead by 10-0 at intermission, took the ball deep in visitor's territory and marched in. Fullback Roger Lopes and kicker Nick Bobich were standouts for State before 60,832.

Michigan State	7	3	7	14—31

Carolina 21, Wake Forest 0

"You're a much better team than you've shown thus far," Coach Jim Hickey told his men. "Now let's get going." The Tar Heels took the cue and skipped past Wake Forest by three touchdowns. Smallest turnout of the year, only 12,000 in Winston-Salem, watched Carolina score touchdowns in the second, third and fourth periods. Junior Edge started it with a one-yard dive. Little Ron Jackson pulled in an Edge aerial in the third stanza and scampered 72 yards untouched. A Gary Black-John Atherton pass set the final score in motion. Carolina's offense rolled up 436 yards to Wake's 92.

Wake Forest	0	0	0	0— 0

Carolina 14, Maryland 7

A superlative pass defense, which resulted in six interceptions for a new team record, was Carolina's key in this one at College Park, Md. The Terps scored on a freak play in the second period, then UNC came back after intermission to place two tallies on the boards. Quarterback Edge ran the first score across from eight yards. A 7-yard pass from QB Black to End Bob Lacey netted the payoff touchdown. A crowd of 21,000 watched the Tar Heels actually jell as a team. They rolled up 301 yards and for the second time in three wins, came from behind with poise.

Md.	0	7	0	0— 7
UNC	0	0	7	7—14

Carolina 31, N. C. State 10

The triumph over the Wolfpack was the most workmanlike effort of the season. After a 10-10 halftime deadlock, the Tar Heels came out fast, quickly posted 14 points in the third quarter and added a final score in the fourth. Excellent passing by the twin combo of Edge-Black plus Ken Willard's 91 yards rushing kept the 'Pack defenses shaky. The Tar Heels scored three times through the air, with End Joe Robinson's two TD nabs the equal of an individual receiving record. The dangerous State running game was held to a skimpy 26 yards, while only 80 were allowed overhead. Lone touchdown for the 'Pack was a 74-yard interception by Tony Kozarsky.

State	0	10	0	0—10
UNC	3	7	14	7—31

Carolina 7, South Carolina 0

It took a determined effort in the fading minutes of the final quarter for the Tar Heels to pull this one out before 23,000. Coach Marvin Bass of the losers said it was his team's best defensive effort of the year. The Tar Heels capitalized on a short USC punt—after having backed up the Gamecocks most of the game—to take over on the 34 and drive in for the score. Halfback Willard made it across with only 1:48 remaining and Dave Braine kicked the point. Carolina amassed 311 yards to 121 for the foe, but failed to make big plays at crucial moments. The letdown was to be expected after the N. C. State showing, but it was more USC ruggedness than poor NC play.

Carolina 28, Georgia 7

Georgia brought heralded Larry Rakestraw to town, but Carolina's highly regarded pass defense was up to the occasion. So was QB Edge, who passed for 189 yards by hitting 15 of 20 attempts and rushing for another 37 to completely dominate the battle of signal callers. Carolina gained 381 yards to Georgia's 145. Edge scored twice, passed to flanker-back Jackson for another. Fullback Ed Kesler plunged for four yards and the opening tally. The turnout was estimated at 34,000. Braine continued his smart kicking by sending four straight through the uprights.

Carolina 7, Clemson 11

Led by Pat Crain, a fullback with powerful drive, the Tigers from the Palmetto handed Carolina its first ACC defeat. A field goal by Clemson's Pearce gave the visitors a 3-0 halftime margin. The Tar Heels took the lead in the third period, 7-3, Willard's three-yard touchdown rip and Braine's extra point. In the fourth, the Tigers went ahead to stay with a Preacher Parker plunge and a two-point conversion to End Bob Poole. Clemson caught only four passes, but the 107 yards gained was the first time UNC had allowed a foe to hit the century. Although the Hickeymen lost, they were in scoring position several times. Crowd was 36,000.

Carolina 27, Miami 16

With Gator Bowl scouts on hand, the Tar Heels made the most of their afternoon. Willard rushed for 112 yards and the pitching pair of Edge-Black completed 20 of 31 passes for 244 yards to outdo the great George Mira, who hit 11 of 26 for the losers. A big fourth-quarter burst, which netted 13 points, proved the difference. Miami scored early in the first period, seemingly with ease. The Tar Heels got busy, stiffened and uncovered their own offense. One of the dazzling plays was a 19-yard Black-to-Ron Tuthill scoring pass. Turnout was 28,000 to watch Carolina record a bulky 440 yards net.

Carolina 16, Duke 14

For the fourth time in as many years, this ancient rivalry was decided by a toe. Max Chapman's 42-yard field goal with 32 seconds remaining pulled it out of the fire for UNC. The Tar Heels had taken a 13-0 lead and seemingly had things locked up. Duke came back with a 70-yard scoring pass to Billy Futrell from Scotty

Promising New Faces In Carolina Football Camp

DANNY TALBOTT

JEFF BEAVER
QUARTERBACK

There is no set formula for finding fame as a collegiate footballer. Often the highly-touted prospect reaches a leveling-off plateau and isn't able to reach the standards required of varsity competition. The answer isn't in physical properties alone. The mental aspect of the sport is just as important.

So it can be nothing more than a guess when we suggest several new faces for future stardom. It is felt, however, that based on screened performances of the past, the Tar Heels have quite a few good athletes on hand.

Two of them are quarterbacks—Jeff Beaver and Danny Talbott. They were members of the same Shrine Bowl team, a winning team, it might be added. Beaver, a leggy guy with a good head, is an exciting passer, an arm which goes for the long ball as easily as the short screen. Talbott makes moves as if he has been camping on a gridiron all of his life.

How much Beaver and Talbott play their sophomore season is problematical. However, all members of the coaching staff concur in saying that both are outstanding collegians.

Bill Darnall, who will be a junior scholastically but moves into his first year on the varsity squad, was groomed to fill departed Bob Lacey's shoes. A former back, Darnall makes fine running moves once he has the ball. It will be up to him to make Carolina's aerial attack click as a wide end.

Joe Fratangelo could be the quickest of Tar Heel linemen. He isn't big by forward-wall standards, but his 195 pounds place him in the swift-and-tough category as two great but small guards of past years, Maryland's Bob Ward and Tennessee's Bob Suffridge.

The four young men pictured are destined to play much ball for the Tar Heels over the next three seasons. Last year's freshman team was a good one for individual talent. This group—and a host of their teammates—should continue to carry the banner of good football at Chapel Hill.

UNC AND THE TAR HEELS

LOCATION: Chapel Hill, N. C. Approximately the geographical center of the State of North Carolina, 10 miles from Durham, 28 miles from Raleigh. Plane passage should be booked to Raleigh-Durham Airport, serviced by Eastern, United and Piedmont Airlines. Limousine service to Chapel Hill. Train passage should be booked to Raleigh, which is on the main line of Seaboard Airline Railroad. Airport facilities at Chapel Hill for private planes.

HOTELS: Carolina Inn in Chapel Hill, Jack Tar Durham and Malbourne at Durham, Sir Walter and Carolina at Raleigh. Motels located in Greater Chapel Hill: University Motel, Tar Heel Motor Lodge, Watts Motel; on Chapel Hill-Durham Blvd.: Capri Motel, Duke Motor Lodge, Eden Rock Motel, Homestead Motel; in Durham: Holiday Inn (2); in Raleigh: The Velvet Cloak, The College Inn, others.

FOUNDED: The University was officially chartered as a State University in 1789, with doors opening in 1795.

ENROLLMENT: 11,000

NICKNAME: Tar Heels. Adopted because North Carolinians as natives are known as Tar Heels. The nickname is said to have been applied to the area's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. Tar and turpentine were in abundance in the State at that time. Legend has it that (1) North Carolina warriors in the Revolution were noted for their resistance, that is, they had tar on their heels, and (2) British generals noticed barefooted natives with tar on their heels and first applied the soubriquet.

COLORS: Carolina Blue and White.

MASCOT: A ram. First introduced in 1924 by then Cheerleader Vic Huggins.

STADIUM: Kenan Memorial.

THE OFFENSIVE PATTERN

As sophomores, Ken Willard and Eddie Kesler were fullbacks. They performed well, and someone noted the Tar Heels would really have manpower if both 220-pounders were in the same backfield. Coach Jim Hickey made such a move before the season ended and last year it was Willard at halfback, Kesler leading the interference at full.

Many have compared the Carolina offensive system to that of the Green Bay Packers, a professional team whose bread-and-butter is the power play. The Tar Heels strive to make the most of their big men and it paid off in a 9-2 season for 1963. However, the Carolina attack relies on heaping helpings of passing and options that keep the opposition guessing.

Basically, the offensive system can be called the "winged-T." The Tar Heels will utilize their flanker back both right and left. A wide end is also posted, spreading the defense and opening the way for an aerial attack. The quarterback often rolls and runs. There are times when the "I" formation is used.

Down through the years Carolina teams have used a variety of formations. The single wing and double wing were in vogue during the 1930's. Carl Snavely, who won fame with his single wing power set, dreamed up a new alignment called the "A" formation in the 1950's. It had some kinship with the "shotgun" and short punt forms.

George Barclay introduced the "T" here in 1953. The Tar Heels have stuck to variations of that style over the past 11 years.

COACH LIKES NEW RULE

"The new substitution rule will benefit us," points out Coach Hickey, "but we still hope to utilize a two-team system most of the time."

Hickey, like many other coaches, found the limited substitution rule a trial in accounting. Too much time was spent during the crucial moments of a game lining up men eligible to enter. Now there is relief and offensive and defensive specialists can be maneuvered most of the time.

"We're fortunate to have a good number of boys who are proficient both ways," comments Hickey. "Last year we tried to make a team change every eight minutes. That will be our policy again, although we will have a few individuals who will perform spot duty."

Defensively, the Tar Heels will stick to a 5-4 set, a pattern known in coaching circles as an "Oklahoma" defense. Key men are the linebackers. Chris Hanburger, the center, will call the defense for UNC. He is regarded as one of the country's best.

The Nation's Oldest State University

George Washington was President of the United States when the University of North Carolina was founded. The first students were admitted in 1795. The University at Chapel Hill was the first state university in the new nation to admit students.

The University of North Carolina was authorized by the North Carolina Constitution of 1776. It was proclaimed that the state should establish "one or more state universities."

The founder of the University was a graduate of Princeton University. He was William Richardson Davie. On a "founding" trip to locate the University, Davie and a party of men stopped to rest on a wooded plateau on top of a high hill.

The tree under which they rested became known as the Davie Poplar. It still stands. One hundred feet from there they built the first structure, the Old East Building, with cornerstone laid in 1793. Joseph Caldwell, a Princeton graduate, was the first President.

The University of North Carolina has been in operation continuously since 1795, except for five years after the Civil War when it was closed—1870-75.

The University at Chapel Hill became a modern University in the period between 1900 and 1930, when it emerged from the status of small liberal arts college to a major university with high rank and stature as attested by its membership in the American Association of Universities—the academic organization stressing educational excellence.

The present University has an enrollment of some 11,000 students, and there are more than 1,000 faculty members.

There are 14 colleges and schools, including more than seventy departments and numerous other institutions, divisions and academic-affiliated organizations.

These include colleges of arts and sciences and a general college for students in the first two years; law school, medical school, business school, journalism school, school of social work, school of education, graduate school, and schools of pharmacy, dentistry, public health, nursing, and library science.

Besides the Arts and Science School there is further separated emphasis in an Institute of Natural Sciences, and another Institute of Humanities.

Among the institutes which provide additional teaching, research and public service for the state of North Carolina is the Institute of Government, the Institute of Statistics, the Institute for Research in Social Science, the Institute of Latin-American Studies, the Institute of Fisheries Research, and the Research Laboratories of Anthropology.

Other prominent academic organizations are the Ackland Art Museum, the Morehead Planetarium, the Louis R. Wilson Library, the University of North Carolina Press, the Carolina Playmakers, the Extension Division.

An integral part of the University is the Division of Health Affairs, a six-fold medical-dentistry-public health complex which includes the North Carolina Memorial Hospital.

Departments of instruction which have regional, national and international standing include departments of art, classics, dramatic art, English, general and comparative literature, Germanic languages, history, music, philosophy, religion, romance languages, economics, political science, psychology, sociology, botany, chemistry, geology and geography, mathematics, physics, zoology.

In 170 years of careful planting and landscaping, there has been created at Chapel Hill what the school's lovers like to believe is the most beautiful campus in the world, with attractive gardens, greens-wards and arrangement of flora and walkways to enhance the loveliness of the varied architecture. The University of North Carolina is composed of about 700 acres on the main part of the campus, and there are more than 3,500 acres available for expansion.

The All-Star Picture

Ken Willard has ripped, galloped and blasted for more than 1,000 yards in two years for the University of North Carolina. He is worthy of consideration for All-America honors if he continues his spectacular style of play at halfback.

Several of the pre-season magazines have jumped on the 220-pounder's bandwagon. Ken was one of 11 top players around the country to pose for "PLAYBOY MAGAZINE," which chooses an All-America group. The feature was displayed in the September issue.

Willard is a devastating and powerful runner, a capable blocker and a good pass receiver (he caught 19 for 201 yards). Among his 1963 credits are the Gator Bowl's Most Valuable Player and the Atlantic Coast Conference's top rusher. He made the All-ACC team and honorable mention All-America.

There are other Tar Heels worth watching. Chief among these is Center Chris Hanburger, an All-ACC pick last season.

Hanburger is a spirited leader and a real rough-neck when the whistle blows. This is a year in which good centers are in abundance around the nation. The Carolina coaching staff rates Hanburger as good as the best.

Certainly a trio of positions have men capable of all-star recognition in some form. End Frank Gallagher is a sizeable veteran who won't budge on defense. Tackle John Hill must carry a big load at his position. A trio of guards—Clint Eudy, Jay Malobicky, Richy Zarro—have what it takes.

There are some fine athletes among Carolina's 11 lettermen backs. Fullback Eddie Kesler is called the human bowling ball—he knocks so many folks down with his smashing blocks. Keep him in mind for any such awards. QB Gary Black might be a surprise package.

TAR HEEL RADIO

The Tar Heel Football Network, which will originate from WSOC in Charlotte, will pipe North Carolina game accounts to fans throughout the Atlantic Coast Conference area.

Bill Currie, one of the South's outstanding commentators, will handle play description during the football and basketball seasons. Currie is television sports director at the Charlotte station.

Some 60 stations will carry Carolina games during the fall, making the network one of the nation's largest in station coverage.

Each home game at Chapel Hill is covered by the Currie team as well as visiting networks. The Tar Heels often appear on national and regional television. The Duke-Carolina game in November will be screened regionally by NBC.

North Carolina's own educational television station, under the direction of John Young, often offers delayed telecasts of Tar Heel games, plus innumerable feature presentations of the coaches and players.

The Jim Hickey Show, in which the Carolina head coach offers comments and game film, will be a Sunday sports special during the fall for television viewers. The program will be carried by several stations throughout the state.

UNC HAS TOP FACILITIES

The facilities at Carolina for sports rate among the best in the nation. Seldom does a day pass without some construction going on.

At the moment, two top facilities are being shaped for use. An addition to Woollen Gymnasium is expected to be completed by next summer. It will offer 10,000 seats and be utilized for varsity basketball and special student body meetings.

The baseball team will find the most modern field in the conference next spring. Carolina played its final season at Emerson Field last year. That area will accommodate the new student union. The new diamond will be located below the football practice fields, northeast of Kenan Stadium, the famed football arena.

Fetzer Field will continue to serve track and soccer. The varsity tennis courts rate with America's finest. A turnout of 4,000 watched the Miami match there three years ago. Two Olympic swimming pools (indoor, outdoor) serve aquatic needs.

Five UNC Jersies Retired

If you see Nos. 22, 46, 50, 59 and 99 at Kenan Stadium, they will be worn by a member of the opposition. Those five numbers have been retired in honor of the men who wore them.

The No. 22 was known almost as well as the athlete who carried it—Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice. He won All-America fame from 1946-49 and recently was one of five inducted into the newly formed North Carolina Hall of Fame.

Carolina's first All-America was George Barclay. The year was 1934. Barclay wore No. 99 at his guard post.

Cotton Sutherland, an outstanding back during the Justice era, was killed in an automobile crash. Then Coach Snavely was instrumental in having the number (46) retired.

No. 59 was the jersey of the late Andy Bershak. An All-America flankman at Carolina in 1939, Bershak was a defensive terror.

Another end, No. 50, Art Weiner made the All-America selections along with Justice. In 1949, Art caught 57 passes. He is now a member of the University's athletic council.

An Impressive Set of Statistics For 1963

PASSING—Carolina ranked first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and 12th nationally with an average of 160.5 yards per game. Junior Edge, who split quarterbacking duties with Gary Black, placed third in the ACC with 1163 yards on 89 completions for 170 attempts.

RUSHING—The Tar Heels placed second behind Clemson with an average of 180.9 yards per game. Ken Willard at halfback led the ACC in yards gained with 648 for 10 games. He increased this total in the Gator Bowl game with another 94 yards.

TOTAL OFFENSE: A handsome total of 341.4 yards per game, or 4.7 yards per play, put Carolina at the top of the ACC in total offense. Nationally, the Tar Heels ranked 10th in this department.

TOTAL DEFENSE: Carolina placed second behind Clemson with a yield of 226.4 yards per game.

RUSHING DEFENSE: Carolina was third in the ACC.

PASSING DEFENSE: Another first for the Tar Heels. The Carolina secondary held foes to an average of 84.4 yards per game. Early in the season they were among the top three nationally.

PASS RECEIVING: Bob Lacey of Carolina and Stan Crisson of Duke each pulled in 48 aerials. This placed them in a tie for second nationally in individual statistics. Lacey's great year earned him an All-America rank.

PUNTING: Carolina's Bill Edwards, with a 37.3 kicking average, tied with Wake Forest's Karl Sweetan for first in the ACC.

EXTRA POINT KICKING: Dave Braine of Carolina made good on 18 of 19 attempts to place second in the ACC. Carolina ranked 20th nationally in this department.

INDIVIDUAL TOTAL OFFENSE: Carolina's Edge placed first in the ACC with a total of 1413 yards for 10 games. It averaged 5.8 each time he handled the ball. Gary Black placed seventh in the ACC with a total of 679 yards. No other ACC school had two quarterbacks in the group.

CHUCK ERICKSON

Erickson succeeded the genial and highly respected Robert A. (Coach Bob) Fetzer in June of 1952. Prior to that he had been assistant director of athletics. His achievements in his position are many. The Carolina athletic program is respected across the country.

A graduate of Carolina with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Engineering in 1931, Erickson has been connected with athletics at the University in one way or another for more than 30 years.

A native of Oak Park, Illinois, he came to Carolina as a football player under Coach Chuck Collins, the old Notre Damer, after attending the University of Wisconsin for one year. He was a star halfback at Carolina on squads that were noted for fine backs. He also lettered in track.

Erickson then entered business for two years before returning to the athletic department here. He first served as assistant graduate manager of athletics, engaged in field work as a fund raiser and also had a hitch of coaching and scouting.

Then came a tour with the Navy as a lieutenant commander, following which he was named Assistant Athletic Director.

Golf is a hobby and particular love. Doubling as golf coach for many years, he turned out four conference championship teams. He was chairman of the 1962 NCAA Golf Tournament.

Chuck is married to the former Mildred Wanell and they have a daughter, Susan, who graduated from UNC last spring.

Glacken. Then the Blue Devils went ahead on Jay Wilkinson's 24-yard canter, plus extra points by Holloway. Willard and Kesler had provided TD's for Carolina earlier. Chapman's boot, after Edge had directed a drive in the final two minutes, came before 47,500 on Thanksgiving Day at Durham. As soon as the game ended, the Gator invitation was accepted. Lacey caught 8 passes to soar his total nabs to 48.

Carolina 35, Air Force 0

"We didn't work hard. I asked the squad to get in shape and be ready to play ball. We worked on timing and mental attitude. Then we took the field." The game played against Air Force on Dec. 28, 1963 will go down as one of the finest ever for a UNC team. The Tar Heels were sharp and began ripping the Falcon line early in the first quarter. Ken Willard went over for the first score. By halftime, two more touchdowns were added and Carolina led, 20-0. The bigger, harder-hitting Tar Heels scored again in the third and fourth stanzas. When it was over, the score read: UNC 35, Air Force 0. Carolina had played alert (five passes intercepted) and aggressive football. Some 10,000 fans had made the Florida invasion from North Carolina. They were rewarded with a Gator Bowl Championship.

is a town fifteen miles outside of Pittsburgh and in an area celebrated for fine high school football players. George Barclay, Bud Carson, Dick Buck, Paul Severin and Harry Montgomery, some of Carolina's past football greats, all lived within seven miles of Hickey's home.

In high school Hickey won monograms in football, basketball and baseball. He made the WPIAL all-district team in both football and basketball.

Jim entered the College of William and Mary in the fall of 1938. He graduated with an A.B. degree in history in 1942. At William and Mary he was a three-year letterman in football and, in his senior year, went out for basketball and made the starting team.

Hickey was coached by Carl Voyles at William and Mary. He weighed only 155 pounds but was considered a fine back, noted for his speed and cleverness. Throughout his college career he was sort of a "utility man" in the backfield, playing tailback, wingback and occasionally even blocking back in the single wing system.

After finishing William and Mary, he entered the Navy, trained at Notre Dame and Columbia and saw two and a half years service on a destroyer overseas. He was discharged in December, 1945, as a full lieutenant.

In April, 1943, he was married to the former Pat Foss of Wooster, Ohio, who was a student at William and Mary when he was in school there. The Hickeys have four daughters.

LIST OF CREDITS

THE FRONT COVER: Blocking at its best is seen in the Gator Bowl game as Ken Willard's Tar Heel mates open up running room against Air Force. Willard made a 24-yard gain in the first quarter, gained a total of 94 during the day as North Carolina won, 35-0. The action was caught by the lens of Jack Jessee, courtesy the Daytona Beach News-Journal. The shot of Jim Hickey is by Laughead.

THE BACK COVER: The photo was taken shortly after the kickoff of the UNC-N.C. State game last fall, won by the Tar Heels, 31-10. Student Wolfgang Witz handled the camera work.

ART LAYOUTS: Nell Atwater of Colonial Press.

BASKETBALL IS JUST AROUND THE CORNER

Bob Lewis and Coach Ken Rosemond

Coach Dean Smith expects to floor an exciting and capable basketball team for the 1964-65 season and he'll need both ingredients. The schedule for the Tar Heels is one of the most ambitious in history.

Other than the always lively seven foes of the Atlantic Coast Conference, UNC jumps into the thick of the Southeast by facing Kentucky, Tulane, Vanderbilt and Florida.

There is a possibility of meeting two other SEC big-wigs, Alabama and Mississippi State, in Virginia Tech's Invitation Tournament at Blacksburg, Va., beginning Dec. 18.

New York University comes south for an engagement at Greensboro, site of the bout with Vandy. Indiana of the Big Ten will be scrimmaged at Bloomington, Ind.

"We should be improved both offensively and defensively," predicts Coach Smith. "Our rebounding will be stronger. We are counting on our sophomore players to bolster us considerably."

First-string veterans returning are Captain Billy Cunningham and Forward Ray Respess. Cunningham, an All-America selection as a junior, averaged 26 points per game and pulled down an average of 16 rebounds. He's a slick and tested performer.

Much is expected of Bob Lewis, who set a freshman scoring record last year with a 37-point average per contest. He's two inches shorter than Cunningham at 6-3, but his skills are many. Lewis raids the boards like a seven-footer.

Board help will come from Mark Mirken, a redshirt of last season who stands 6-5, and Bob Bennett, who is due to come into his own. Bennett is the squad's tallest at 6-8.

Experienced players returning are Ray Hassell and Pud Hassell, Johnny Yokley, Bill Brown, Billy Galantai, Bill Harrison, Mike Iannarella and Jimmy Smithwick.

Sophs who have standout qualities include Ian Morrison, a deadly outside shot who averaged just shy of 20 per game last season; Tom Gauntlett and Donnie Moe, a scrappy backcourter.
